

There are currently more than 30,000 EVs in Ethiopia, including both passenger and commercial vehicles. By 2032, the GOE expects 148,000 passenger EVs and 4,855 commercial EVs will be in the market.

Ethiopia is making headlines with its ambitious shift to electric vehicles (EVs) as the government bans petrol and diesel imports, aiming to boost green energy and reduce fuel dependency.

Ethiopia is making waves in Africa's transportation landscape with a bold statistic: over 60% of new vehicles sold in the country are now electric. This milestone signals the dawn of a clean mobility ...

By 2025, Ethiopia's electric vehicle (EV) market has grown to include over 100,000 vehicles - representing 7% of the national fleet. This progress is largely driven by government policies and persistent ...

Ethiopia is making waves with its rapid shift to electric vehicles, becoming the first country to ban gas-powered car imports. With over 100,000 EVs on the road and plans to quadruple that by 2032, the ...

More than 60 percent of newly registered personal cars in Ethiopia in 2024 were electric vehicles (EVs), marking a major shift in the country's transport and energy landscape, according to data from the ...

In just two years, the country's electric vehicle (EV) fleet has tripled, soaring from around 4,600 units in early 2023 to over 14,000 by mid-2025. This unprecedented growth is the result of bold government ...

Ethiopia's automotive landscape is undergoing a significant transformation with the rise of electric vehicles (EVs). In 2025, the market offers a diverse range of EVs, from established international brands to ...

Ethiopia has emerged as an unexpected leader in Africa's electric vehicle (EV) transition. In 2023, the country became the first in the world to ban imports of internal combustion engine (ICE) vehicles.

Electric vehicles (EVs) are transforming Ethiopia's transportation landscape. With over 100,000 EVs already on the roads, making up 8.3% of all vehicles, the shift is driven by government policies like the ...

Web: <https://scmindustries.co.za>